COLLEGE

Lehman College Technology Ecosystem

December 1, 2011

Selected Key Systems & Sponsors

Considerations

- Minimize information overload regarding new systems.
- Establish clarity regarding the purpose of systems, how they relate to each-other and how to obtain support.
- Ensure the necessary resources for training & support for faculty and staff.
- Ensure a seamless user experience which provides a standard user-interface and intuitive access to key systems, tools and functions.
- Create standards and clarify tools that the College & CUNY will/will not support (security, licensing, training).

Alignment with Achieving the Vision (edited)

Goal 3/Objective 3.1: ...guide the development of a technological environment integrated into teaching, research, and learning.

Lehman Connect (Goals)

- Communication: Provide a streamlined process for internal college communications, announcements, notifications.
- Collaboration: Document and media storage, sharing, archiving, and versioning. Team sites provide collaboration environments which feature project management, scheduling, task lists, shared assets, discussion boards, and chat.
- Application: Provide a central location to access internal business processes, forms, tools, and applications. Provide reduced sign-on via integration with Active Directory. Develop feature rich software to streamline internal operations (e.g. Master's Thesis Repository).

My Profile Page

 My Profile Page
The My Profile Page is an information profile searchable from inside the portal. Upload and share documents, publish blogs, integrate with social media networking sites, and interact with your colleagues via real time chat are additional features coming soon.

My Web Page

 My Web Page
The My Web Page section includes a web builder application and elegant template styles to facilitate the editing and publishing of publicly accessible web pages. My Web Pages are searchable and linkable via the college website, and does not require a user login to access.

About My Lehman Connect

Tools and Features

My Lehman Connect is a central point of reference for your applications, schedules, rosters, webmail, college directory, team sites (collaboration tools), links and RSS feeds. The "My Team Sites" section includes your memberships to private websites at unique addresses that you and your team can log on to to communicate, upload documents, keep track of to-do's, milestones, meetings and discussions.

Team sites are comprised of shared documents, calendars, task lists, and web-based office tools to improve your day-to-day workflows and streamline business processes.

For more information, visit the Lehman Connect training & documentation site, or contact the web services team to request a team site.

Thesis Repository

Why is an academic repository important?

NUAR (Niigata University Academic Repository)

“... institutional repositories can disseminate information much more effectively than personal websites”

Universities can:

- meet accountability requirements
- improve their brand image
- preserve academic research output effectively and permanently

Universities can:

- promote cooperation and contribute to local communities
- Reduce costs of managing academic information

dc.description.abstract	The purpose of this scholarly thesis is to research methodologies for assessing student science learning and acquisition of science identities in informal educational environments. The study begins by surveying the methodologies used to assess female science identity and learning. An overview of the methods used to assess learning in informal environments follows. The thesis concludes by providing anecdotal experiences in collecting structured interviews at the American Museum of Natural History, and recommendations for methodologies that might be used to assess learning and identity development within the American Museum of Natural History and other informal science settings.	en_US
