

The Dean's Book Club

Educating a Diverse Nation

Lessons from MINORITY-SERVING INSTITUTIONS

To foster an ongoing dialogue with new faculty and their respective Deans, The Dean's Book Club aims to provide a forum to discuss important issues related to higher education. This year's book is: "Educating a Diverse Nation. Lessons from minority serving institutions." by Clifton Conrad and Marybeth Gasman. You will receive your personal copy at our Orientation Day on August 24, 2016.

Your Dean will arrange to meet with the new faculty from your School twice per semester. At the session you will discuss the issues raised in the book and others related to our students, to teaching at Lehman, as well to your scholarship and service.
